Rotterdam Student Alpine Club

Introduction

These rules of procedure concern the Rotterdam Student Alpine Club and supplement the statutes on a number of topics.

1 Membership

1.1 Ordinary Members

- All secondary vocational education (MBO), university of applied science (HBO) and/or university (WO) students in the Netherlands can become a member.
- To become a member, you need a full sports pass from Erasmus Sport.
- The full sports pass should have access to all the sport classes at Erasmus Sport, but does not need to have access to the fitness.

1.2 Extraordinary Members

- There are three types of extraordinary members:
 - Instructors and trainers in training.
 - Active instructors and trainers.
 - Members who are particularly committed to the association.
- Instructors in training who go along as an instructor in training on climbing weekends get 50% off the price of climbing weekends.
- Instructors who go on climbing weekends as an instructor receive a 100% discount on the price of climbing weekends.
- Instructors who do not wish to participate in the regular climbing evenings and activities can be registered under extraordinary membership, nullifying their requirement to pay a contribution fee, while retaining the benefits associated with instructors.
- Instructors who do want regular climbing evenings and activities can become regular members, even if they are no longer students. They are still obliged to have an Erasmus Sport pass.

1.3 Honorary Members

- Those who, because of their extraordinary services rendered to the association, or because of their special contributions to the promotion of climbing and mountaineering in general, have been appointed as such by the members' meeting on the proposal of the board or of five or more members.
- The honorary members have access to the members' meeting. They have no right to vote there.
- Honorary members do not pay a contribution.
- The honorary membership can end in the manners indicated in Article 8 of the statutes for the termination of membership.

1.4 Alumni Members

- Members who were RSAC members during their studies, but are no longer studying.
- An alumni pays half of the membership fees.
- An alumni does not have to purchase a sports pass.
- An alumni may participate in the following types of activities:
 - the climbing weekends
 - the Dies
 - the general meeting of members
 - the end of year bbq

- o the courses, only if there is room left
- o alumni drinks
- o other alumni-oriented activities
- An alumni who wants to join a climbing weekend must be "Outdoor Lead Climbing Single Pitch" (OV-SP) certified.
- An alumni may be a member of a committee for up to 2 years after graduation, or indefinitely as a member of the RvA and/or the audit committee.

1.5 Contribution

The contribution that members have to pay the following academic year is determined annually by the board and presented on the GMM in the second half of the academic year. The board is allowed to change (increase or decrease) the yearly contribution by a maximum of 10% of the current year's contribution. A change in contribution larger than this has to be approved with a voting during a GMM, where at least 2/3 of the votes should be in favor of the proposal.

On the 1st of February the membership fee is halved for the remainder of the financial year.

The contribution for 2024-2025 is 30 euros per year for regular members.
The contribution for 2025-2026 is 35 euros per year for regular members.

1.6 Termination membership

Termination of membership by a member can only take place towards the end of an association year and with due observance of a notice period of four weeks. Termination is only possible by making this known in writing to the Secretary.

1.7 Association year

The membership year runs from September 1 to August 31.

1.8 Removal from Membership

- If a member does not comply with the statutes and internal regulations, a member can be expelled as such.
- If a member does not comply with the general decency rules, this may constitute grounds for expulsion.

1.9 Enrollment

Registration as a member takes place by filling in the registration form. After which the member has committed to paying the contribution. If the registration requirements are not met, someone is not registered.

4 Activities

4.1 Climbing activity definition: all activities where the main objective is climbing or bouldering.

4.2 The RSAC cannot be held responsible for damage to private property during an RSAC activity.

4.1 Climbing Weekends

4.1.1 Climbing Weekend are weekends organised by the RSAC and its climbing activities.

4.1.2 Climbing weekends are coordinated and organised by the climbing commissioner. Or a replacement is arranged and appointed by the climb commissioner.

4.1.3 Climbing weekends are organised against cost price. In principle, the total costs are divided equally among the participants.

4.1.4 RSAC requires that everyone who goes on an RSAC climbing weekend has NKBV travel insurance with coverage of mountaineering accidents or comparable insurance.

4.1.5 If, after a prepaid event, 5 euros or more has been paid too much per paying participant, every member who has been along and is entitled to this will receive this entire overpaid amount back. If there is a shortfall of 5 euros or more per person on the bill for a prepaid event, the participants must top up this amount to make the bill correct.

6 Training structure

The RSAC does not have its own training structure. But follow the training structure as conducted by the NKBV. The only exception to this is the Indoor Toprope certification accepted the Indoor Toprope certification from Branchevereniging Klimsport.

The first goal is that members can (learn to) climb in a safe and thoughtful way. The second goal is to train members to become instructors so that they can later train other members.
